THE HAWK AND THE CROWS

“Does the hawk fly by your wisdom...?”

Job 39:26

Ornithology is not a hobby of mine, but bird observation does intrigue me.

Have I misunderstood hawk behavior when under attack or being pestered by groups of crows?

Crows are aggressive. And they gang up on their adversaries. But have you noted the response of the noble hawk when besieged by crows?

The hawk, it appears to me, will defend itself by merely climbing higher and higher and higher in the heavens until the altitude itself seems to tire the energetic black birds.

It would seem to me that the greater the height the less offensive is the opposition. Seek great altitude.

Even if we've missed it in our ornithological lesson it could at least remind us that the best defense is a loftier position.

Keep yourself upright; don't stoop to try to conquer.

“Keep your behavior excellent among the Gentiles, so that in the thing in which they slander you as evildoers, they may on account of your good deeds, as they observe them, glorify God in the day of visitation” (I Peter 2:12 NASB)

And keep a good conscience so that in the thing in which you are slandered, those who revile your good behavior in Christ may be put to shame (I Peter 3:16).
