FAMILY & FRIENDS PRAYER REQUESTS

Please keep Polly in your prayers as she is having some health issues.

Danny's sister, Jackie Hester, who suffered a stroke is still struggling with pneumonia in the Atlanta hospital and continues to need our prayers.

We are thankful Skip Stewart and Glen Skelton are improving. Keep them in your prayers.

Remember MarieJane's sister, Joy, who is getting her Master's in Special Education and hopes to find work here in the States.

If you would like to donate essentials for the Kentucky flood victims please see Mark Haynes who has a list of things needed by those who were directly affected by this disaster. We continue to pray for those suffering loss.

Samuel Haynes will be leaving for Freed Hardeman University around August 12th.

Ella Stidham has finished her internship with The Old Mill and is now back in Chattanooga ready for her second year at Chattanooga State.

THE BIGOTREE (BIGOTRY)

Ever climb a big ol' tree
Just to see what you could see?
High above the common view
Things below grow smaller than you.

And if you stay up there too long
Your sight becomes entirely wrong
The folks beneath seem so inferior
While you think you've grown superior.

There's another big ol' tree
(Spelled a little differently,
But for climbing, nonetheless.)
If you assume that you're the best

The name of it is bigotry -
Quickest climb to misery -
Bigots need it though, you see,
Because without it they would be
Just the size of you and me
And all God's folks made equally.

Lumberjacks, man your post
And fell your tree at any cost
Better still, don't plant the seed
Or give it water or its feed.

God's instruction makes it clear
That happy folk hold others dear:
Esteem them better than you are
And God will raise you to the stars!
